DETAILED ACTION

- 1) Claims 1-10 are presented for examination.

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

- 2) An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment; it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

- 3) The application has been amended as follows:

Referring to claim 9, line 1, the phrase "The c method" should be changed to read --The method--.

Allowable Subject Matter

- 4) Claims 1-10 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Referring to claims 1-10, the closest prior art is Aisa (U.S. Pat 6,873,876), Araki (U.S. Pat 5,844,796), and Huffington et al (U.S. PGPUB 2002/0069460). Aisa teaches an appliance control system for a washing machine comprising a main controller with multiple memories capable of having custom programs installed to assist basic functionality. Araki teaches a control system with a rewritable memory. Huffington teaches a spa control system which utilizes a control panel to communicate with a microprocessor.

However, referring to claim 1, Aisa, Araki and Huffington, alone or in combination with each other or the prior art of record, do not explicitly teach a control system for a plumbing fixture comprising first and second microprocessors and first and second memories, whereby a first software program is executed by the second microprocessor to process commands from an input device and whereby a second software program used to operate components is transferred from the second to the first memory upon activation of the control system, in combination with the remaining elements or features of the claimed invention.

Referring to claim 8, Aisa, Araki and Huffington, alone or in combination with each other or the prior art of record, do not explicitly teach a method for controlling a whirlpool tub comprising providing first and second microprocessors and first and second memories, whereby a first software program is executed by the second microprocessor to process commands from an input device and whereby a second software program used to operate components is transferred from the second to the first memory upon activation of the control system, in combination with the remaining elements or features of the claimed invention.

Referring to claims 2-7 and 9-10, the claims are dependent on allowable independent claims, and are therefore allowable.

5) Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

6) Although not utilized in any office action, Examiner wishes to add several pieces of related prior art to the record. These have been noted on the attached PTO-892.
